

BRYAN ASKS JOHNSON FOR A SLIGHT DELAY

TELEGRAPHS REQUEST TO WITH- HOLD SIGNATURE FROM ANTI-ALIEN LAND BILL.

NOT AN OFFICIAL ACT

Washington Department Precluded from Official Interference but Seeks to Give Hearing to Japan's Protest.

Washington, April 19.—Secretary of State Bryan today telegraphed to Gov. Johnson of California requesting him to withhold his signature from any anti-alien land legislation passed by the California legislature which might be the violation of treaties between the United States and Japan.

Secretary Bryan today declined to make public the text of the telegram and with some reluctance discussed the telegram at all. The impression prevailed here that it was the desire all around not to make public its text in California until it had been presented to an executive session of the legislature.

Ask for Information. Meanwhile those in charge of the legislation which Japan construes as offensive to her national pride, have asked the state department for specific information as to the exact limit of the guarantee to Japan and other foreigners by existing treaties and the department will clear up that point as far as it can in the absence of any judicial decisions in the questions.

The postponement by the California legislature of the alien land bill until next week has relieved the tension here slightly though every moment until the bill is again taken up will be utilized in exchange of messages between Washington and Sacramento and other points in California where influential officials reside who may be able to exert some influence.

Can't Officially Interfere. President Wilson and Secretary Bryan made no secret of the fact that though they were precluded from officially interfering, they are privately addressing themselves to individuals to secure the amelioration of the features of the pending bill offensive of the Japanese government, but taking into consideration the probability that in its final form the legislation may not apply to other aliens than Japanese.

The administration officials here are giving some thought to the best means of meeting a protest by the Japanese government against the proposed legislation on the grounds that it is in violation of treaty obligations.

Secretary Root's Finding. While Mr. Root was secretary of state he prepared a memorandum which related to the right of Japanese in the United States to own land for use for agricultural purposes and his opinion was adverse to the claim. The failure of the Japanese government to issue a decree confirming the treaty right of Americans who own land in Japan may also be an important factor in the negotiations which may be expected to follow the enactment of the California land legislation.

Although officials profess to find considerable material upon which to base a defense against a charge of non-observance of the treaty of 1910.

BOMB TROOP TRIES TO BLOW UP TOWER

Another Attempted Explosion on Part of English Suffragettes Fizzle Out.

Plymouth, England, April 19.—A militant suffragette bomb troop, to-day attempted to blow up the famous Smeaton tower of Plymouth. The tower was the original Eddy Stone Lighthouse built by John Smeaton in 1756 to 1759. It became antiquated and was re-erected on the Hoe as a historic relic.

As in many of the incidents of recent date the bomb employed by the militants failed to explode. It consisted of the usual cylindrical canister filled with explosives and with a fuse attached at the top. The bomb was placed by the women under the entrance to the tower. The fuse had been lighted but evidently was extinguished. The women who were in the tower at the time, declared the words "Votes for Women," "Death in Ten Minutes," while all around was scattered suffragette literature.

BREECHBLOCKS AND AMMUNITION STOLEN AT FORT OF JUAREZ

Mexican Garrison in Desperate Situation As Result of Crippling of Machine Guns.

El Paso, Tex., April 19.—The Mexican federal garrison at Juarez found itself in a predicament today. Some persons had made away with the ammunition and the breechblocks of all cannons and machine guns rendering the pieces useless.

Complicating the situation was the fact that during the siege of Naco Sonora a large shipment of ammunition was sent through the United States for the relief of Gen. Ojeda and now Col. Juan N. Vasquez finds himself in command of plenty of men at Juarez, but with virtually no artillery and little ammunition.

Arrest Madero Official.

Jose Piere, who was a Madero official, in the border town was arrested but the breechblocks which may be duplicated only after much expense and time, have not been found. The loss of ammunition is no less easily recovered. Mexican consular officers declared it was shipped to Naco by permission of the United States customs and military officials here, but the car was not permitted to cross to the Mexican side at Naco, Arizona and remains held there by order of American officials. Juarez it is predicted soon may find the ammunition as well as the breechblocks.

Pesos fluttering around the 45 cent mark have caused somewhat of a panic along the border, not only in banking but in mercantile circles. Food stuffs prices are soaring in Chihuahua City and Juarez.

Begin Bombardment.

Nogales, Ariz., April 19.—Insurgent Sonora state troops early today began the bombardment of Guaymas by long distant artillery and rifle fire. The federal garrison of 500 regulars was entrenched on a suburb of the California government of the city. The insurgents are said to number more than 1,000 with strong reinforcements on the way from Hermosillo, the state capital.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS BALK AT REGULATION

Large Representation Appears Before State Affairs Committee to Oppose Dietrich Bill.

Madison, Wis., April 19.—Evidence that real estate dealers are much opposed to state regulation was furnished before the assembly committee on state affairs recently when a contingent appeared against the August Dietrich bill licensing and regulating such persons. Those who attacked it were W. E. Hamilton, Milwaukee and H. Smythe, Madison, president and secretary respectively, of the Wisconsin Association of Real Estate Agents; E. A. Kremer, L. B. Rowley and Paul F. Stark, Madison, and former Assemblyman Julius H. Denhardt of Neenah. No one spoke for it.

The Dietrich bill licensing auctioneers and regulating the auctioneer's profession called forth opposition from C. C. Bennett of South Wayne, former state superintendent of public property, an auctioneer of note in Wisconsin. The license fee required by the bill—$25—would go far to wipe out the ordinary auctioneer's yearly profits, he maintained. Besides the law would not make men more honest than now, he declared. The bill, which is almost an exact counterpart of the law which has just passed the Illinois legislature, was favored by former Assemblyman Denhardt and A. O. Ellison, president of the state association of auctioneers.

Madison, Wis., April 19.—The Hawm bill to give the state industrial commission power to enforce the liquor laws of the state will be given a hearing before the assembly committee on labor on Tuesday. Assemblyman Hawm is dissatisfied with the method by which the cities enforce excise laws and he claims that a state commission, not interested in politics would enforce the law without fear or favor.

POPE MUCH BETTER; RELATIVES GUESTS AT LUNCHEON TODAY

Believed That His Illness is Now Convalescent—Sleep Proves Refreshing.

Rome, April 19.—For the first time since his illness the Pope and his sisters lunched at the Vatican today with Angelo Sarto his brother. This is considered here as proof that the Pope is really entering on the convalescent stage. The Pope slept tranquilly for two hours this morning, his breathing was easier and his rest more refreshing than it had been.

Shows Improvement. Prof. Marchifava and Dr. Amici, the papal physicians, announced that owing to continued improvement in the Pope's condition only one bulletin a day would now be issued from the sick room. This morning's bulletin read as follows:

"His holiness passed a very tranquil night with temperature this morning at 97.1. His coughing spells and expectation have decreased and his general condition is stronger and better. Owing to the continued amelioration only one bulletin daily will now be published. Signed by the two physicians."

Sees Brother. For the first time since the Pope's illness Angelo Sarto's brother, was allowed to see him today. The professor had not permitted the meeting during the critical period of the Pope's indisposition and insisted that he be present at the meeting today because of the effect of the emotion by the encounter between the two brothers which might have a bad effect on his patient.

Is Strong. Angelo, who is still sturdy, erect and stalwart, despite his age, entered his brother's room with trepidation and was overcome with emotion as he entered. Both were in tears and Angelo was only able to mutter between his sobs the Venetian diminutive of the Pope's name, "Dear Beppi."

Held Short Talk. The two brothers started talking but the professor gently intervened and forced Angelo from the room. A rumor was circulated in Rome soon after that the Pope had suffered a fainting fit as the consequence of the emotion caused by the visit from his brother. The report, however, was denied officially at the Vatican.

"First Aid To The Perplexed"

The "first aid to the perplexed" in the administration of the household should be the advertising columns of THE GAZETTE.

You were looking at the tablecloth today and that brought up the question of table linens. This ought to be a good time to buy tablecloths and napkins. Watch the announcements of the reliable stores that advertise in THE GAZETTE.

And, speaking about table linens, weren't you thinking of a new rug for the dining room, new curtains, another couch cover? Perhaps something was said about replenishing the cut glass supply or a new china cabinet or a buffet.

And what about a new refriger- erator this season. A fine up-to-date sanitary refrigerator is not in the luxury class any more; it is a necessity.

Take your household problems to the advertising columns of THE GAZETTE. It is the business of the stores represented there to help you.

During the trial Calemin on hearing the sentence of death of Dieudonne shouted, "My comrade Dieudonne was not the assassin of the bank messenger Caby. It was I and my chief." The admission caused a tremendous sensation and it is assumed that the doubt of Dieudonne's guilt resulted in his pardon from the president.

YOUTHFUL ROMANCE ENDS IN AN ARREST

Duluth, Minn., April 19.—A romance of innocent youth met an abrupt inter- ference today in the form of the charge of white slavery against the 22-year old would-be husband of a 14-year old would-be bride. Their names were Felix Caciolo, a recent importation from the sunniest part of Italy and Angelina Stefani, born in this country of Italian parents, farmers residing near Ironwood, Michigan. (The police declare Angelina is beautiful. Felix towers high above her. He held her hand throughout the excitement incident to the arrest. She tightly held his coat sleeve.)

Angelina's father had shrugged his shoulders and given his consent according to the girl, but her mother had said "No." Whereupon Felix took his girl and his $250 of savings and came to Duluth. The mother swore out a white slave charge. "We will return them to Ironwood today," said police captain Fiskett, "and I hope that the man will beat the charge. It's a case of real love."

There was no change in the items of wheat on which the millers have been making a great fight because of the putting of flour on the free list.

When the caucus assembled democratic leader Underwood said he expected the tariff bill would be complete in caucus by tonight. As amended it will be introduced in the house Monday and according to present plans voted upon by the entire membership of the ways and means committee at the meeting Tuesday and probably taken up for consideration by the house Wednesday.

BELGIAN STRIKERS, STILL ON INCREASE DO FIRST VIOLENCE

First Signs of Trouble Since Walkout Started a Week Ago Reported in Today's Dispatches.

Brussels, April 19.—Twelve million dollars is the figure compiled in trust worthy circles of Belgium's loss in the first six days of the strike for equal political rights which has been joined by about 40,000 men, half the male working population of the country. Two-thirds of this loss of one million dollars a day falls, according to the socialist trade union leaders, upon the employers and supporters of the existing system. The organizers of the strike are firm that the men by exercising self denial can hold out as long as the capitalists for a political reason only. All appearances go to show that the strike will continue for a considerable period.

The printers of the capital struck work at midnight, but as the newspapers were practically ready for publication at that hour, all appeared this morning. Even the men employed on the socialist organ "Le Peuple" walked out, but enough will be permitted to stay to print a sheet containing strike news.

NEED TO CONSIDER

CHARACTER OF SOIL

Boys Entering Corn Contest Should Take Several Matters Into Consideration in Selecting Plot.

Select the best acre of ground on your farm if it is available. This is good advice to all boys who are entering the Gazette corn contest. The selection will involve several considerations, and the boy familiar with his father's farm and the comparative yields of different lots for a series of years will have an advantage.

The amount of organic matter in the soil is an important consideration for the corn crop and for other crops. G. W. Walker of the Minnesota Experiment Station writes an interesting article on this subject in the current issue of Hoards Dairyman. Although the corn raising is not expressly in view by the boys, boys interested in the Gazette contest will get valuable information from the account which is given in part below:

"When fresh organic matter decays in intimate contact with the soil, the processes of decay give rise to a large amount of carbonic acid and to other organic acids in lesser amount. Hence fresh organic matter, during decay, acts more energetically upon the mineral matter of the soil and by its solvent action increases the amount of available plant food. In course of time only the portion of organic matter that is more resistant to decay remains. This is composed largely of carbon, and is a very important matter, but while higher in nitrogen than the original organic matter, its nitrogen is less available as plant food. Hence the effect of organic matter upon the supply of available plant food is of great importance, both directly and indirectly.

It has been conclusively proved that the addition of organic matter to the soil greatly increases its water-holding capacity. This increase in water supply has been sufficient in many cases to carry a crop through a dry season, and thus prevent crop failure.

"The addition of organic matter improves the texture of the soil, thus producing the desirable tilth in a well worked soil, enabling the roots of the plant to penetrate the soil more easily and thus obtain a greater supply of plant food than would otherwise be possible. In fact, all the physical properties of the soil are improved by the addition of organic matter. The supply of barnyard manure is often inadequate to keep up the supply of organic matter properly and maintain the soil in the best condition possible. In addition to stable manure, provision should be made for systematic green manuring. This can be arranged for in a rotation by plowing under the second crop of clover which is especially valuable for the purpose of increasing the nitrogen supply.

"By returning straw or plowing under cornstalks an additional increase of organic matter may be obtained. Whenever it is possible, avoid burning any plant growth, as this destroys most of its value to the soil. If plowed under in time to decay thoroughly enough to avoid interfering with cultivation, soil-washing is thus checked and the soil's organic matter is increased.

CLINTON WILL VOTE FOR NEW CITY HALL

Proposition Will Be Considered at Special Election Next Thursday.

—Other Clinton News.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Clinton, April 19.—Clinton people are just beginning to awaken to the discussion of the proposed new city hall. There has been very little enthusiasm and practically no discussion of the matter due to the fact that several influential taxpayers are not in favor of such a building being built in such a narrow lot and that is practically the only objection for and against the proposed building. When it is agreed with the building occupied by W. W. Dalton and found that the proposed building will be two feet wider than that, it looks wide enough. Many who oppose the matter will be heartily in favor of it if made wider.

The freemen forfeit all control and will have absolutely nothing whatever to say about the new building only as any other taxpayers. One objection, the cost of upkeep, is no objection to the income from the hall will pay the entire running expenses. The freemen justly feel that they have done a magnificent thing in offering the site gratis to the village and feel that it should carry at the special election April 24, and no doubt it will by a large majority.

It is reported that W. H. Northrup has purchased the Irving Simmons house and lot on Milwaukee street, occupied by A. W. Miller.

The freemen have ordered uniforms of white duck and expect to attend the state, freemen's tournament in a body at Monroe in June.

Miss Jennie Northrup has purchased the vacant lot and the west side of North Main street of George Fulkerson.

Mrs. N. R. Buckley and daughter, Mildred, spent Monday and Tuesday in Janesville visiting Mrs. Buckley's son and family.

Mrs. G. C. Lake is visiting relatives in Delevan.

Mrs. Guy Manley of Delevan, Ia., is visiting her brother, W. H. Hughes and wife.

JUNIOR CLASS WINS

THE T. B. EARLE CUP

Make Excellent Showing in Edgerton Rhetorical Contest—Lulu Sholl Takes Declaration Medal.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Edgerton, April 19.—On the declamatory and extemporaneous contests a member of the class of 1914 each took first place. There was great rivalry among the classes and each did as much decorating as possible in the school building while all were doing their best to be heard with their class yell.

Before the declamatory contest started Miss Norma Hargraves sang "The Gypsy Trail" to a very appreciative audience. The speakers in the contest were:

Marie Cunningham—"The Sign of the Cross."

Cecilia Barrett—"Patsy."

Nettie Armstrong—"Topsy."

Bernadine Gerard—"The Bear Story."

Lulu Sholl—"The Christmas Play."

The judges for the contest were Mr. Russell Lewis of Madison, M. Gahagan of Milton Junction and J. Arbuthnot of Janesville. Third place was awarded to Nettie Armit, second to Cecilia Barrett, and first to Lulu Sholl.

Lulu Sholl will receive a gold medal given by P. M. Ellingson for giving the best declamatory. After the declamatory contest Miss Kathleen Culton pleased the audience with a violin solo.

The extemporaneous contest followed with the following people speaking:

Nellie Bradley—
What shall be done with the tariff?

Roland Ellison—
The High Cost of Living.

Lowell Whittey—
The Income Tax.

Glenn Gardner—
The Minimum Wage Law.

Harold Pratt—
The Value of Domestic Science and Manual Training.

While the judges were making their decisions Mr. Kimball rendered the songs which greatly pleased the audience.

The judges awarded third place to Nellie Bradley, second to Glenn Gardner, and first to Lowell Whittey.

Lowell Whittey will receive a gold medal given by A. E. Stewart for giving the best extemporaneous talk. The winner of the rhetorical contest, Clayton Hubbell, and of the declamatory contest, Lulu Sholl, will represent the school in the league contest to be held in Stoughton in a short time.

The Junior class by winning three first places, an honor second and third, and also by having the greatest number of candidates in the semi-final extemporaneous contest, receive the cup which was given by T. B. Earle to the class winning the greatest number of points.

Is Father Glad To See The Piano Man?

Does he welcome him with about as much enthusiasm as a cat does an enforced swim?

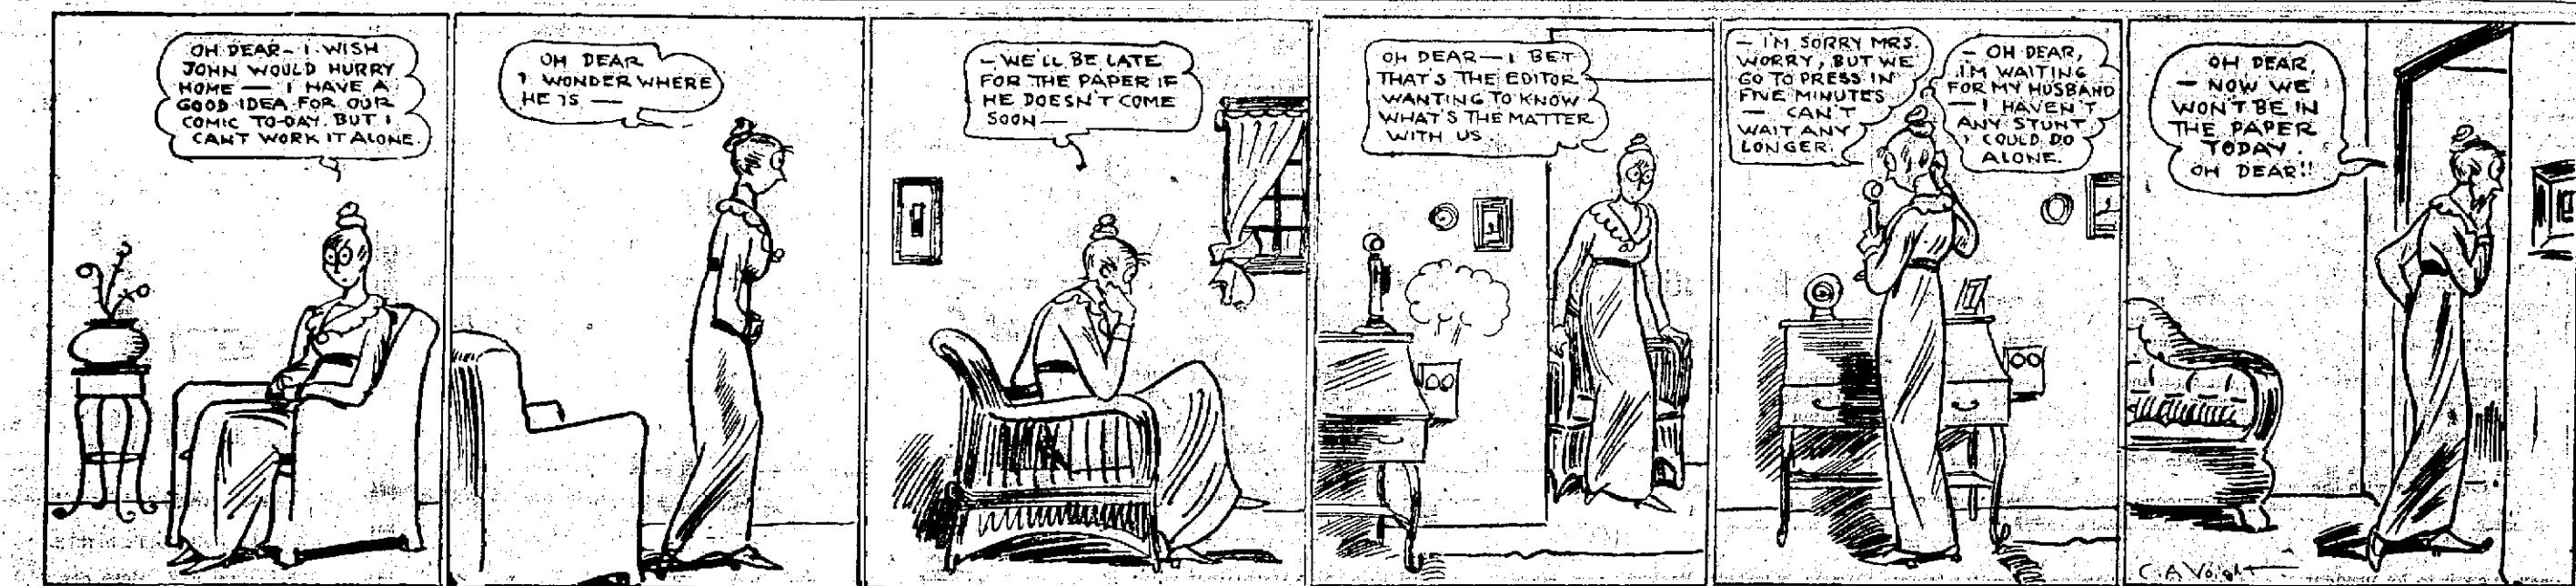

The fact is, Dad doesn't know a blamed thing about a piano. He doesn't know whether the pesky thing is worth $100 or $500, but he knows how hard he worked to get the dollars, and he also knows that piano men as a class are a bunch of cheap John fakers and most of them will overcharge and misrepresent.

But even the old folks know that the Kimball, Schiller, Bauer, etc., are not in the puzzle scheme or factory sale class, and that a genuine Kimball at $150 is a mighty bargain.

SISTER SCHOOL DEFEATS WASHINGTON BOYS 22 TO 2

Fine twirling by Cassidy, pitcher for the Catholic school, was the principal reason for that school's victory over the Washington school boys in yesterday's contest. The Washington school boys were outclassed and scored only two runs while their opponents ran away from them with twenty-two scores. Captain Hogan of the victors was the leading batter, his timely hits scoring many of the runs.

There are eight teams in the school league and judging from the interest that the boys have taken in the contests it is evident that they will provide good sport for them the remainder of the season. The Sister school team has proven invincible as yet, winning two victories and two defeats, and are leading the league with a perfect average. All the teams of the league are to play today and the interesting contest should make a great change in the standings of the teams.

HOLD LAST RACE MEET ON COEUR D'ALENE TRACK

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Coeur d'Alene, Ida., April 19.—The race meeting of the Coeur d'Alene Fair and Racing Association opened at the Alamo track today and will run continuously for 61 days. It will be the last meet at this track, as the recent Idaho legislature passed a stringent anti-betting law which will make future meetings in this state out of the question. To all appearances, however, this fact has not lessened the interest of the turf followers in the present meeting. Nearly 1,000 horses are quartered at the track and many of the foremost turnouts of the West are on hand. About $200,000 in stakes and purses will be distributed during the meeting.

BASEBALL CHATTER. H. Ray Chapman is as good as the Cleveland critics say, he is, the Naps' infield will be their with bells on this season. The dropping of Bobby Byrne from top to seventh place in the Pirates' batting order, may mean that the rap on the head that Bobby received from Joe Wood at Hot Springs has caused him to be "ball-shy."

Harry Niles, veteran big leaguer and parachute jumper, has been showing a match speed with the Indianapolis team this spring that he has been taken for a youngster just breaking in, on several occasions. "Rabbit" Maranville and "Hap" Myers, of the Boston Nationals, would make a swell vaudeville team in a knock-about act. The "Rabbit" is built so close to the ground that he tears the seat of his trousers when he walks sharp grass blades when he walks across the field, while "Hap" could hit lunch off a second-story window ledge without stretching his neck.

First Baseman Sterrett, the former Princeton player now with the Highlanders, made a fine impression on President Wilson in the opening game at Washington.

Now that the Cardinals have purchased Jim Sheckard from the Cubs, it will be a case of tussle between Jim and Lee Magee for the position in left field.

Early Spring opening is fine business. Game after game is postponed on account of rain and when they are able to play the cold weather puts the pitchers' flippers on the bum.

It looks as if Stengel will become a Brooklyn regular, and Calahan will be sent to Newark to inhale a little more baseball before breaking into the fast track.

Jack Barry, at short for the Athletics, showed Boston fans some real ball playing in the opening game with the world's champs.

PLAN TO ORGANIZE WHITEWATER LODGE

Local K. C. Teams Will Put on Work at Big Gathering May 4th.

The two degree teams of Carroll council No. 556, Knights of Columbus, will put on work at the institution of a lodge at Whitewater two weeks from tomorrow, May 4th. The Janesville teams are scheduled to put on the first and third degree work while the Beloit will have charge of the second degree. State Deputy Kelly of Madison will be in charge of the installation and between seventy-five and one hundred members will be on the first roll of the new council. There will be a large delegation of Beloit and Janesville Knights at the meeting in addition to the degree teams and arrangements will be made for a special train which will leave Beloit in the morning arriving at Whitewater before noon.

Representatives of the Beloit council will be in Janesville next Thursday evening to discuss preparations for the event.

SISTER SCHOOL BASEBALL TEAM WINS THREE STRAIGHT

The Sister School boys again won from their opponents, the Adams school, by an overwhelming score, and thereby put themselves in a safe lead in the standings of the league with a percentage of one thousand. Cassidy again proved a stumbling block to the opposing batters and his pitching was the main reason of his team's victory by the score of 14 to 2.

Poor support was given Ryan, pitcher of the Adams school nine, his team blundering on fourteen plays, while the Sister School team only had seven misplays marked against them. Heavy batting marked the contest. Moosie, catcher of the victorious nine, poled out three safe swats, which played a prominent part in the score. The next game scheduled for the Catholic nine is on next Saturday with the Jefferson school.

Summary.
Sister School.	Cassidy, p; Moosie, c; Kober, ss; Kenny, 1b; Denning, 2b; Hagen, 3b; Nerrick, lf; Miller, cf; Britt, rf.

ST. PAUL PLANS TO HOLD SAFETY FIRST RALLY HERE

At yesterday's safety first meeting with the officers of the St. Paul railroad company on the Mineral Point divisions held yesterday at Madison. It was agreed that there would be a big rally held in this city about the fifteenth of next month. The Janesville safety committee composed of O. J. Franklin, E. J. Northrup, L. Michaels, John Felter and P. W. Zimmerman represented the Janesville railroad men at the meeting. The Madison committee was also present. A. W. Smullen, chairman of the general safety committee and N. P. Thuerber pertaining to the reduction of accidents were thoroughly discussed and it was decided that the best way to keep the movement up would be to hold a big rally in Janesville about May fifteenth, which would be free to the public. After an address by A. W. Smullen the meeting was adjourned.

NATIONAL REVOLVER SHOOT IS ATTRACTION AT DALLAS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Dallas, Tex., April 19.—Crack shots from many parts of the country were assembled here today at the opening of the annual indoor championship shoot of the United States Revolver Association. Texas claims to have the best revolver shots in the country and hopes to carry off a majority of the prizes. Many of the contestants from the North and East are office men, who declare they can excel the plainsmen and cowpunchers as marksmen. There is much good natured rivalry among the various factions, and all are on their mettle. Some excellent scores are expected before the close of the tournament on April 27.

LEGALIZED BOXING MAY MEET A SNAG

Although Finally Recommended by Committee Hedding Bill Will be Opposed in Assembly. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 19.—Legalized boxing as proposed in the Hedding bill for a state athletic commission, which was reported favorably by the assembly judiciary committee yesterday, received condemnation from a strong Milwaukee organization. The public morals committee of the city club has written individual members stating that it believes the principle of the bill is wrong, that such a commission is undesirable, and that the present laws pertaining to prize fighting are far preferable. F. H. Lindsay is chairman of the committee. It is said that still opposition will be offered when the bill comes up for action next week.

The same committee in another letter recorded its endorsement of the bill, providing for the abatement of prostitution.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.
'Tis easy enough to be pleasant.
When life flows along like a song;
But the man worth while is the one
Who can smile
When everything goes dead wrong.
For the test of the heart is trouble,
And it always comes with the years,
But the smile that is worth the praise
Of earth
Is the smile that comes through tears.
It is easy enough to be prudent
When nothing tempts you to stray;
When without or within no voice of sin
Is luring your soul away.
But it's only a negative virtue
Until it is tried by fire,
And the life that is worth the honor
Of earth
Is the one that resists desire.
By the cynic, the sad, the fallen,
Who had no strength for the strife,
The world's highway is cumbered
Today.
They make up the item of life,
But the virtue that conquers passion,
And the sorrow that hides in a Smile
Is the one that is worth the homage
Of earth.
For we find them but once in a while.
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

The author of this little poem has written a good deal of trash, and some of her productions have been freely criticised, but she "struck twelve" in this effort, for the sentiment expressed is so true to life that it will be recognized and appreciated.
The great test of character comes to us, not in the days of sunshine, when the current of life runs so smooth that not a ripple disturbs the surface, but in the days of storm and disaster, when the anchorage lets go, and we find our bark adrift, with no harbor in sight.
The recent floods and the loss of life and property resulting, were a national calamity, which came so suddenly that there was no time for preparation or defense. Families were broken up in a night, and the savings of a lifetime vanished like the morning dew.
But there is always a bright side to the darkest picture, and over against the storm and flood is the radiant background of a generous hearted people vying with each other in efforts to extend practical relief.
The stricken people of Omaha, who but a week before had suffered untold losses, did not forget their neighbors in distress, and even the oil magnates came to the rescue with five hundred dollars, while the little man Patterson of the National Cash Register company, contributed a quarter of a million, and worked like a beaver to relieve suffering.
The city of Dayton, like many other places in the flood district, was transformed in a night from a thriving, prosperous city, to a river-bed where raging torrents played havoc with life and property, with no power to stem the flood.
There were many instances of heroism, which have been fully exploited, when the mad torrent was at full tide, and all honor is due to these brave hearts who stood in the breach and defied the elements in efforts to save human life, but the story which will never be written, is of the brave men and women who stood among the ruins, when the water receded, and gathered courage to take up the battle of life again, at the beginning.
We enjoy the beauties of the old oak, as its shadows protect us from the heat of the mid-day sun, but the testing time of the old tree is not in the sunlight but in the darkness of the storm which sweeps through its branches and causes the tendrils, far below the surface, to take a firmer grip on the strong foundations.
The devastated homes were places of rest and contentment, with but little to mar the monotony of continual happiness. The daily round of duty, demanded but little sacrifice, and the years sped by with no thought of great disaster.

But like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky came the flood, and today, all over the stricken district, men and women are fighting the supreme battle of life, appalled by the ruins about them, and discouraged as they try to gain a foothold.
The strength of individual and community character is being tested in the hot furnace of disaster, which in many instances includes the double tragedy of broken homes and scattered fortunes.
The money contributed so freely, from all parts of the land, can only make good a fragment of the loss, but the generous sympathy speaks of a common brotherhood, and out of the ruins of homes and fortunes the work of restoration will be carried on, inspired by courage and the bond of fellowship, which makes all men akin.
Someone has said that many of us are out of jail, because we never had a good chance to get in. We have been shielded through environment, from the pitfalls and peculiar temptations which incite crime and develop law-breakers.
This is doubtless true, and the same principle applies to the lesser virtues which have to do with the moral code and the long list of unwritten laws.
The man who makes a loud profession of either his honesty or religion, is usually so shallow that the seeds of character fail to take root, and he goes down before the blast of strong temptation.
It isn't the daughter in the home protected by all its hallowed influences who is entitled to credit for leading a life of virtue, but the girl from the ranks of underpaid toilers in the great outside world, without a home, who passes through the ordeal, with character and reputation untarnished.
These are the girls who are exciting so much attention at the present time, and federal and state commissions are investigating conditions, and attempting to change them by demanding a living wage, but their efforts will be futile, because the fixed law of supply and demand has always been, and will continue to be the regulator of wage scales.
The average boy starts out in life honest, not because of any fixed principles, because his character is yet in the embryo state and its development will depend largely upon his surroundings.
But this is where the boy has the advantage. He goes out into an honest business and industrial world, which protects him against himself until he is able to stand alone. He handles no money, but his meagre earnings, and soon discovers that confidence must be earned before it can be enjoyed.
Not so with the average girl, who is thrown upon her own resources at the uncertain age, between girl and womanhood. She enters the same honest business world as the boy, but is soon shocked to discover that virtue is but lightly regarded, and the new world about her is beset by temptations which the boy knows nothing about.
These conditions prevail in the girl's working world everywhere, and the wonder is that so many pass through these hard experiences and come out untarnished.
What these girls need more than increased wages, is increased protection from themselves and from the hell hounds who regard them as legitimate prey.
But few of them have any plans for the future, except the God-given hope that some day they may preside in a little home all their own.
One girl in Chicago, writing her experience, said, the other day: "I find occupation and entertainment in my church, which makes a specialty of looking after homeless working girls, and so I have no more lonely evenings in the little hall bedroom in the cheap tenement."
That's Christian work of the highest order and when the church wakes up to its responsibility, and employers realize—as many have already done—that they owe to these girls protection, as well as wages, the question now so troublesome will solve itself.
The story of the Pharisee and Publican is an old-time story, but it has lost nothing of its significance in the passing of time. The Pharisee is abroad in the land today, as never before. He infests the religious, the social and political world, as a barnacle to the progress of the age.

What we need as a people is less governing, and more encouraging, less regulation and more toleration; the spirit of forbearance more than the spirit of criticism.
The positive virtues of life, lie close to the surface. They take root and develop rapidly in the genial atmosphere of kindly appreciation, and mutual helpfulness. Shall we cultivate this spirit?

It is along the lines of public service that this store strives to be best. We have made our store pleasant in looks. We have put the best people to be had at the head of each branch of the business, and keep them up on tip toe that every minute of every day you may depend on the best they can do. That is the keynote of this store's effort. Nothing less than the best in every line will "do." We shouldn't deserve to have and to have the chief favor of Janesville people otherwise. We are holding it we mean to.

Municipal Affairs Of Vital Interest

GERMAN MUNICIPAL STABLE HAS UNIQUE FEATURES

Nice, clean, sanitary stables for horses, have long been more or less common, and from time to time improvements have appeared which were directed to bettering the surroundings of our dumb servants, but it is not until the municipality of Charlottesville, a suburb of Berlin, to show the world a really advanced method of caring for horses.

The scheme practically amounts to an entire hotel. Each animal has the comforts and convenience of an individual room, or stable, and each floor, there being three, has its own gallery or balcony. All in all, the plan sounds quite attractive, even to the point of having elevators, the horses are taken to their stalls on the floors, and the ground by means of long inclines.

This municipal stable possesses a feature of importance, quite aside from the advantages derived by the horses themselves. The animals are used in the street cleaning service, and there are several hundred of them. To accommodate them all in a ground floor stable, such as are commonly seen, would require much more space than could readily be secured. The principle is that which applies to skyscraper buildings. Land is valuable, air is not. Therefore use the air.

The three-story house for horses may never become a thing of universal use, however, for even in the work of cleaning streets, the automobile is crowding out the horse, and the day may not be far distant when stables of any kind for housing horses may be looked upon as relics of a by-gone period before the world really woke up. Meanwhile Charlottesville is evidently taking care of her horses.

CALIBRE OF COMMISSION ELECTED BY DULUTH

Mayor William L. Prince, three times mayor of Bessemer, Mich., bank president and former president of the Minnesota Bankers' Association.

Commissioner (long term)—Fred Young, treasurer of the city of Duluth for 26 years.

Commissioner (long term)—W. A. Hicken, ship builder and contractor.

Commissioner (long term)—Leonidas Merritt, mine operator and railroad builder. He and his brother, Alfred, are said to have contributed more to the prosperity of Duluth and all of Northeastern Minnesota than any other two men.

Commissioner (short term)—Roderick J. Murchison, one of the Duluth board of public works for the past year and a half.

STREET FLUSHING SUCCESS IN CITY OF FORT DODGE

(Fort Dodge, Ia., Messenger.)

A vigorous street cleaning campaign is being planned for this year by the street cleaning department under Street Commissioner Callahan. Fort Dodge is to be made to keep the streets in the most sanitary and the cleanest state possible.

The large street flusher which proved so successful last year will be used both night and day this year, at least as long as the water holds out.

"Last year we were able to use this flusher only in the evening," said Mr. Callahan this afternoon. "This was due to the lack of water. With the installing of the reservoir, however, the water supply will be so much greater that we are expecting on running both a day and night shift."

One of the noticeable features of the street cleaning work this year will be the lack of the sweeper. On Central avenue the streets will be swept good once and then the flusher will be depended upon for the rest. This manner of street cleaning is thought not only to be better but also to be far more sanitary.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER IS PROMISED BARABOO

(Baraboo News.)

T. Edw. Mead, secretary of the Baraboo Commercial association, was in Madison, Monday, in conference with Magnus Swenson, of the Wisconsin Power company, in reference to furnishing electricity to this community. Mr. Mead reports the power company will furnish electricity at 1 1/2 cents per kilowatt hour, and the secretary feels that this will become a wonderful manufacturing center. It is understood the mines expect to use power from the Prairie du Sac plant, as soon as it can be furnished. The power company expects to run a transmission line to Portage through Merrimack and Caledonia to connect with the line at the Columbia county capital. This will be for emergency purposes.

DAYLIGHT CLOSING LAW AFFECTS MANY BARTENDERS

(Fort Dodge, Ia., Messenger.)

Between fifteen and twenty bartenders, about one-fourth of the number, discharged when the daylight closing law goes into effect July fourth. Such was the statement this afternoon of one of the prominent liquor dealers of the city.

The new daylight closing bill cuts the hours the saloons may be open from seven o'clock to fourteen. The first parlor will open at 7:00 a. m. instead of 6:00 and will close at 9:00 p. m. instead of 10:00.

One shift of bartenders now goes to work at 5:00 a. m. and works until 8:30 and then goes off duty until 12:30 and works until 6:30. It is this shift that will be affected by the law.

It has been estimated that one-third of the bartenders of the state will be thrown out of employment by the workings of the new law. The local liquor dealer said he thought this estimate about correct.

CONTAMINATION IN WATER MYSTIFIES FOND DU LAC

(Fond du Lac Reporter.)

Reports received by Dr. E. M. McGanley, city physician and health officer, from the state hygienic laboratory at Madison show that the condition of the city water here is improving and that there is less contamination in the water than was in evidence a week ago.

One of the samples tested was taken from the well operated by the air life pressure system. The water taken from a depth of 600 feet showing contamination. This proves that the trouble is due to no fault of the water commission, but is probably due to the food conditions which prevailed throughout the country recently. The test of water taken from the reservoir also showed less contamination.

FIVE THOUSAND REQUEST TO PLAYGROUND ASSOCIATION

Washington, D. C.—Patriotic in the playground is the object of a Washington woman who announced a gift of $5,000 to the Playground and Recreation Association of America. The woman's name has been withheld but the association has been requested to make her object to be given publicly. She wants children taught to salute the flag and the flag on every public school used daily. She wants children and grownups alike to stand whenever the national anthem is being played and would fuse racial and economic groups into one inclusive patriotic Americanism.

MILWAUKEE WATERWORKS BONDS PREMIUM LOW

The city of Milwaukee yesterday accepted a bid of 100.25 per cent for an issue of $300 of tax exempt 4 1/2 per cent bonds. Etabrook and company of Chicago, New York and Boston, was the purchaser. Normally, the city would have expected a premium of 2 per cent or more for bonds bearing this date and free from tax in Wisconsin, but the price was considered as the best that could be obtained in the state of the money market. The proceeds of the bonds will be used for water works extension. Free Press.

KISSELKAR PATROL WAGON IS PURCHASED AT MADISON

(Madison Democrat.)

The bid of the Spooner-McConnell Motor Car company on an auto patrol car made by the Kissel Kar company will be recommended to the council this morning by the police committee. The car will cost $2,375 and be ready for service in five or six weeks.

The committee considered the bids from various local agents last night and concluded that the bid of the Spooner-McConnell company was the most acceptable.

SALARIES OF SHEBOYGAN POLICEMEN ARE RAISED

The police department was given its long desired raise in pay by the city council last evening. The increase is $25.00 a month for patrolmen and the lieutenant $22.50 a month. The salary of the chief $1,300 a year is not changed. The change is to go into effect in July. Journal.

MEMORINEE MUNICIPAL SKATING RINK SUCCESS

(Memorinee, Mich., Herald Leader.)

According to the report of Street Commissioner Daniel Potter, submitted at last night's session of the city council, it cost the city of Memorinee just $230.45 to operate the municipal skating rink for the 1912-1913 season. This sum is provided from the contingent fund.

When the resolution authorizing the rink was passed it stipulated that the sum to be used in its operation should not exceed $300. Mayor Karthelster protested that the rink could not be conducted within this amount and he fought the passage of the resolution on that ground, and also on the ground that the council had no power to donate money for its upkeep.

MILK DEALERS MUST RENEW THEIR LICENSES

(Madison Democrat.)

The annual milk dealers' licenses are being issued by City Clerk Norman. Some of the dealers have not renewed their applications, but they are being reminded by S. F. Kennedy of the health department. About 70 licenses were issued last year.

CITY OF PRAIRIE DU SAC WILL HAVE WATERWORKS

The special election held at Prairie du Sac Friday, April 11, which was to determine whether or not Prairie du Sac shall issue bonds to pay for the construction of a municipal water plant in that village, resulted in a vote of 92 to 35 in favor of issuing the bonds.

Predicts Consolidation

Chicago—Consolidation of all the small electric power plants between the Missouri river and the Atlantic coast was predicted by President Samuel Insull of the Commonwealth Edison company speaking before the Bond Men's club of Chicago.

Appleton Has Motorcycle "Cop"

Edward Nelson, new motorcycle cop, was on the job yesterday for the first time this season. Nelson warned quite a number of speeders yesterday. The second offense, on the part of those cautioned yesterday will mean arrest.

Consider Municipal Ice Plant

New York—A municipal ice plant for New York to supply the congested section with ice at cost this summer, if a shortage in the commercial supply develops, is under consideration. The subject is being looked into as a health measure.

Best Known Cough Remedy

For forty-three years Dr. King's New Discovery has been known throughout the world as the most reliable cough remedy. Over three million bottles were used last year. Isn't this proof? It will get rid of your cough, or we will refund your money. J. J. Owens, of Allendale, S. C., writes the way hundreds of others have done: "After twenty years, I find that Dr. King's New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and colds that I have ever used." For coughs or colds and all throat and lung troubles, it has no equal. 50c and $1.00 at People's Drug Store.

Stomach trouble, lazy liver and deranged kidneys are the cause of rheumatism. Get your stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels in healthy condition by taking Electric Bitters, and you will not be troubled with the pains of rheumatism. Charles H. Allen, a school principal of Sylvania, Ga., who suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys, writes: "All remedies failed until I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely. Maybe your rheumatic pains come from your stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Electric Bitters will give you prompt relief. 50c and $1.00, recommended by People's Drug Store."

CATARRH OF THE KIDNEYS A Settled Form of Catarrh That May Exist a Long Time Before it is Discovered.

Mr. Robert H. Norris.

There are some things that medical science considers settled. For instance, that all of the organs of the human body are lined with a mucous membrane. Also, that these mucous membranes, of whatever organ, duct, or cavity, are liable to an inflammation known as catarrh. Therefore any internal organ, any internal passage, or duct, or cavity, is subject to catarrh the same as any other internal organ.

The catarrh may be slight, causing only an insignificant change in the function of the kidneys. The catarrh may be severe, producing a condition resembling closely Bright's disease of the kidneys. In such cases there is extreme weakness, maybe bloating of the stomach, bloating of the eyes, Albumen in the urine. Possibly blood and mucus.

Mrs. H. E. Russell, Box 2, North Sutton, New Hampshire, had been troubled for sixteen years with kidney and bladder disease. She said she had taken all kinds of medicine without relief. "I finally applied to Dr. Hartman, who diagnosed my case as catarrh of the urinary organs. He advised me to take Peruna. Even after taking one bottle I felt better. I have now taken six bottles and am cured of my old trouble of sixteen years standing. Peruna has been a blessing to me."

Side Lights On The Circus Business

By
D. W. WATT

"Tramping days for the circus folk have begun. With Ringlings in Chicago, Barnum and Bailey in New York, Buffalo Bill and Pawnee Bill in Philadelphia, the 101-Ranch in St. Louis and minor shows playing one town dates through the south and west the summer campaign is on.

Now days these shows travel by rail with palatial cars, fine equipment and think nothing of a jump of a hundred odd miles from one show to another. How different it was years ago.

Back in the days of the Sixties and Seventies all travel was done by road, short hauls at night from town to town, just as few miles as could be managed, and still draw a good crowd to the next performance. The shows themselves were small and not the monster aggregations, tented cities as they are, of today. The opening day was always at the home town of the show, at its winter quarters and the opening day was a gala time for the entire community.

"Perhaps there is no one little community in any state where so many circus people of the past decades are buried as at Delavan in Walworth county. Delavan is dear to the hearts of the old-time circus folk, the circus people of the days of the wagon shows before the great circuses combined. In the early days of the period of the good old-fashioned one ring show, with perhaps a platform, a menagerie, a new feature, often separate entirely from the real circus, 'circus folk' had hard work. They were forced to take long hauls, travel by night on the tops of wagons, or in covered vehicles. When a wagon was stalled in the mud the elephants were brought out and pulled and tugged the heavy truck out of the hole and then the march continued.

"At one time no less than five of these early day circuses operated out of Delavan. The old Van Amburg show, Mable Brothers, later to become a part of the famous Forepaugh, circus, Buckley and Babcock, Holland and Mosher and Jim Melville's Australian circus. It was the Bay day of the small wagon show and Delavan had its share. Today it is the scene of their last resting place and the shrine of the worshippers to the memory of the old timers.

"Mrs. Frances E. Middleton of Chicago, wife of the famous museum man, has a handsome mausoleum which cost $3,000 and covers two lots in the little cemetery and in fact the whole cemetery is dotted with graves of performers who in their life were premieres in the business. In fact I do not think there is a city in the United States where so many showmen and women have found their last resting place.

In fact for many years Delavan was circus headquarters for the whole northwest and for the east as well. Some of the best-known aggregations started from this little village and their small beginnings can still be seen today in the mammoth Barnum & Bailey show and others that are still fondly remembered by the boys of the days they flourished in. There are also a large number of old-time performers who are spending their last days at this little Wisconsin city and will find their last resting place in the beautiful cemetery there.

"Both Ed and Jerry Mable, whose circus operations date away back to 1844, fill graves in Spring Grove. Matthew Buckley, the famous clown and vaudeur, and who had been apprenticed to Beatty in London and came to this country with Cook in 1836, is buried there, and so is his wife, who long years ago was a well known circus performer.

"John Holland, whose two sons, George and E. G. Holland, both well known circus men, still reside in Delavan, sleeps in the same cemetery. John Holland came to this country from London with the Revell troupe of pantomimes.

"Ed Buckley and his brother, Harry, both followers of the Mable circuses, lie in the same place, and here, too, is the grave of Joe McMahon, who, while wintering a circus at Welch, was shot and killed by a big sheriff, who came up out of Texas to arrest one of Buckley's men.

"George Madden, son of the old man Madden, the clown, is also among the people of the days of the wagon shows. He rests Mary Ann, the wife of George Madden. Johnny Holland, Jr., an attaché of the Mables, is among the numbers, and also is Steve Babcock who with Harry Buckley, started a circus from Delavan in 1857.

"W. C. Coup, who began his circus career as a side show barker and whose name will forever be linked with that of P. T. Barnum, lies in a well-kept lot in Delavan.

"The history of the great aggregation that was known throughout the entire world as Barnum's show, originated in this same town. In 1869 W. C. Coup and Dan Castello started from Delavan with a small wagon show. They shipped on a lake boat at Kenosha and went around the lakes, winding up in the copper country, where they cleared up $40,000.

"Coup came back to Delavan, where he originated a scheme to get the name of Barnum and to use it in connection with a big show. He offered the famous easterner 25 percent of all gate receipts for the mere use of his name. E. G. Holland, who is now the city marshal of Delavan, was with this show when it showed at State and Twenty-second streets, Chicago.

"The Mable show afterwards was consolidated with the Adam Forepaugh show in 1886 and formed the nucleus for this showman's successful career. One of the famous men in the show business, that originally came from Delavan, who never owned a show of his own, but whose name is dear to all showmen of this and past generations, is Delavan, the former boss hostler of the Ringlings. Delavan came from the town he took the name of and the name by which he is known to the circus world and no man was more sincerely grieved after his death by circus men as a whole than Delavan.

"THE BOHEMIAN GIRL" Of all modern operas which can be traced back to a remote period, in so far as the credit of the story is concerned, "The Bohemian Girl" to be presented here with an elaborate production, by Milton and Sargent Aborn has the most curious history.

Cervantes, the Spanish master author of "Don Quixote" published his "Novels Exemplares" in 1813, some years after the book which has made his name immortal. These are a collection of tales of various character, which are the true originals, in the modern history of modern literature in Europe, of the story or real life, with plot, scenery, character and local color.

In the charming story of "La Gitanilla" is to be found the gem of all the gypsy romances, poems and operas, which have since delighted the world. "Froscosa" a drama, to which Weber wrote an Overture and incidental music was derived directly from this story. The libretto of "The Bohemian Girl" was derived by Alfred Bunn, who got his inspiration almost entirely from French models. The theme was taken from the French ballet, "La Gypsy" produced in Paris in 1839, constructed by the Marquis, de de Saint-Georges. Bunn's version is not only identical in subject with "La Gypsy," but is also taken from an unpublished opera by Marquis de Saint-Georges.

"The Bohemian Girl" is still one of the indispensable resources of the manager who wishes to give the best of English operas, for like "The Lady of Lyons" its dramatic rival, it has survived two generations of operatic hearts and still keeps a place in the hearts of the music loving public. The new production being offered by Messrs. Aborn this season is said to be the most massive and magnificent ever made for this opera.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, April 19, 1873.—By a telegram from Clinton Junction we learn there is no truth in the report that has prevailed on the streets today, that Misses Carpenter and Asbman, the would-be suicide, had succeeded in their efforts in self destruction. The rumor, that they have drowned themselves in Turtle Creek is entirely unfounded.
Our music loving readers will rejoice to know that the popular dime concerts are to be revived and they will again have the opportunity to listen to the efforts of our best home talent for the modest sum which gives the entertainment the name and fame. The first concert of the series will be given on Tuesday next and seats are on sale.

Account of Fight Against Modocs:
The soldiers have had hard fighting for the last three days and have captured a stronghold. During the fight the Modocs left the field of battle and broke for the lava beds, going south to the rear of the troops. The greatest part of the fight took place at a shallow bay and here the water resembled a slaughter field. One of our men went out with a horse to carry off a dead companion and was fired on four times and his horse shot down under him. He dropped, was scalped alive and beaten to jelly. The Indians at Infernal cavern are badly whipped and will leave the country. The war will prolong all summer and more troops are wanted. Three days fighting have resulted in the death of five, and ten wounded on our side and no telling how many red skulls. The troops are all in good condition and anxious to pursue the Modocs in the lava beds. Part of them will stand guard watching for a return of the Indians.

That Tired Feeling

That comes to you every spring is a sign that your blood is wanting in vitality, just as pimples and eruptions are signs that it is impure. Do not delay treatment, but begin at once to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which accomplishes its wonderful results, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla, but because it combines the great curative principles of many roots, barks, herbs and other valuable ingredients.

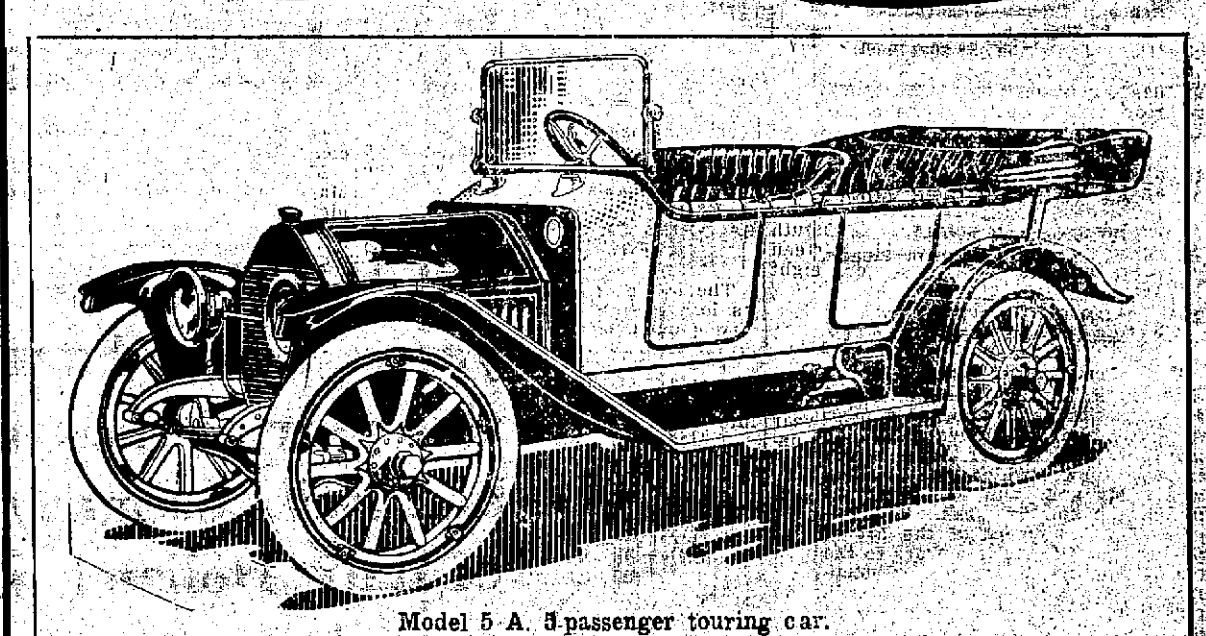

There is no real substitute; insist on Hood's.

EXHIBITION OF PRINTING AT GRAND CENTRAL PALACE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, April 19.—The Grand Central Palace never housed a more interesting and instructive exhibition than the National Printing and Advertising Show, which was opened there today and will be continued through the coming week. The history and development of the art of printing from the earliest times to the present day are illustrated. Gutenberg's printing shop is shown in replica next to the most modern type of printing plant. Advertising men, press builders, ink manufacturers, publishers and color experts—all are represented. Europe has contributed to the show an elaborate display of Cubist and Futurist posters and advertising.

REPORT MANITOWOC PLANT LONG CLOSED, WILL REOPEN

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Manitowoc, Wis., April 19.—Rumors are in circulation that the plant of the Aluminum Casting Co., known as the Trust in this city, closed six weeks ago and reported to be abandoned, will reopen within a short time. It had been said that the company would be located at Racine but this it now denied and it is declared the local plant will resume. Orders have been received here not to ship any more goods or equipment. The company employed about 125 hands and officers declare that the abandonment of the plant was caused by labor troubles last summer.

SWISS WOMEN WORKERS' CONFERENCE AT ZURICH

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Zurich, April 19.—That the working women of Switzerland are as well, or perhaps better organized than their sisters in any other country is evidenced by the large number of arriving delegates and the elaborate arrangements completed for the third annual conference to be held in this city tomorrow by the Swiss Union of Women Workers. Sunday was selected for the conference because it is the only free day the majority of the delegates have. The congress will discuss the suffrage question, organization of women into trade unions, an annual international recognition of "Woman's Day," and plans for a campaign for bringing about a non-contributory sickness insurance scheme and maternity benefits.

INDETERMINATE SENTENCE MEASURE HAS OPPOSITION

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 19.—The senate committee on judiciary will give a hearing on the Stevens bill providing for an indeterminate sentence to persons sentenced for felonies week after next. The bill was on the senate calendar for passage two weeks ago, when upon a motion it was referred back to the committee. It is understood that opposition to the measure has developed. Practically all of the northern states have laws of this character, including Minnesota, Illinois, New York, New Jersey, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Iowa, Pennsylvania and Indiana. The principle in the Stevens bill has been endorsed by the American Prison association.

ROME HAS FINISHED CELEBRATING BIRTH

City Founded Two Thousand, Six Hundred and Sixty-Three Years Ago—Origin of Name Uncovered.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Rome, April 19.—The city of Rome has just completed the celebration of the two thousand six hundred and sixty-third anniversary of its foundation. This places the birth of the city in the year 750 B. C.

It was Marcus Terentius Varrone who first advanced the theory, founded upon patient research, that the cornerstone of the city that in after years came to be known as the Mistress of the World, was laid at the end of the third year of the sixth Olympiad, in other words, 750 years before the birth of Christ. Ancient Romans used to celebrate the city's anniversary by fetes in honor of the Goddess, Pale, protectress of shepherds. These observances were supposed to have been originated by Romulus himself. Then later came the "Ludi Seculares," or Feast of the Century, held at the beginning of each new century. In 1900 King Humbert and Queen Margherita took part in these observances.

It is an interesting fact that while Rome has been a city for all these 2,663 years, on one occasion she was utterly bereft of inhabitants. This was early in the Middle Ages. The barbarians were expected. Word was sent out that, inasmuch as no defense could be made, everybody, men, women and children, should move up the river. Not a soul was left within the city limits for more than twenty-four hours.

Under Augustus the population of Rome numbered nearly six millions. Then it went down to the minimum limit of 13,000, in the Middle Ages, to rise slowly again until it is now 540,000. This is an increase of about 15,000 yearly for the last ten years.

The supposition of most people that the word Roma comes from Romulus is erroneous. Romulus comes from Roma. The original colony was called Roma, from Rumon, river, meaning

"The town of the river," and its head, or leader, was Romulus. "The man of the town of the river." So that after all Romulus did exist, though Remus is still to be accounted for.

FELLOW TOWNSMEN HONOR SENATOR MURRAY CRANE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Dalton, Mass., April 19.—Dalton citizens turned out en masse today to pay their respects to W. Murray Crane, who has ended his career in the United States senate and returned home to resume the life of a private citizen. The demonstration was one of the most remarkable of its kind ever seen in western Massachusetts. The streets of the town were profusely decorated and business was generally suspended for the day. Welcome addresses were delivered by several of the leading citizens and Mr. Crane responded in happy vein. Medals commemorative of the occasion were distributed and the ex-senator was presented with a magnificent album containing the sentiments and signatures of his fellow townsmen.

NEW YORK FREIGHT LINE IS PUT INTO OPERATION

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Buffalo, N. Y., April 19.—The Mutual Transit Company of this city today put into operation a new package freight line between Buffalo and Cleveland and three Canadian ports—Fort William, Port Arthur and West Fort William. The Mutual Transit boats will connect at Fort William with the Canadian Pacific Railway, at Port Arthur with the Canadian Northern and at West Fort William with the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

HULL WILL TAKE FLOOR FOR NORMAL SCHOOL BILL

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Speaker Hull expects to take the floor Tuesday to make a fight for his bill.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

THE YOUNG WIVES' TALE.

ONCE upon a Time there were two Young Wives who Knew Best. That was not just their Opinion but the Truth. They were Women of Unusually Good Judgment and they really did happen to know better about Most Things than their Husbands.

Now one day the Husband of one of these Women came home with a Great Project. "My dear," he said, "I am going to Give up my Present Position and go into Business for Myself. I have had a Great Opening. I have been offered an Opportunity to become one of the Leading Members of a Company to Grow Strawberries on the Banks of the Panama Canal."

At that the Wife Who Knew Best sat right up straight and she said: "John Henry, what are you Talking about? Indeed you are Not Going to Give up your Perfectly Good Position for any such Nonsense."

"Now you don't know Anything about it," said John Henry. And he dug into his pockets, and he brought out some Envelopes, and he read off the Backs of the Envelopes some Incontrovertible Statistics of Fortunes which could be made by a Company to Grow Strawberries on the Banks of the Panama Canal.

After half an hour's argument Mrs. John Henry slammed the Door.

And the next day John Henry, in pursuance of his Rights as a Man and a Husband, Gave up his Position. By a Strange Coincidence the husband of the Other Wife Who Knew Best came home that same day and said, "My dear, I am not at all satisfied with my Position. I am going to Resign. I do not see any Opening for me here."

Just Now-but I am sure a man of My Talents can soon find one."

The Second Wife Who Knew Best thought of Rent and Babies' Shoes and of a Man down the Street who had been Out of Work for Six Months, and she started to say Something Quickly. Instead she Thought a Minute and then she said, "Yes, my dear, I don't feel that you are fully appreciated. But you know this is Presidential Year and Times are Hard. Don't you think there might be more Big Openings, the kind of a Man of Your Talents ought to have when Times are Better? However, my dear, you must use your Own Judgment. You Know Best about Such Things."

At that the Husband of the Second Wife Who Knew Best became thoughtful in his turn and he thought something on this wise. "My wife says I must use My Own Judgment and that I know Best. She is Right. I am the Head of this Family and I must be very Careful what I do. I will consider this Step Very Carefully as befits a Man Who Knows Best."

And the next day, waking up without the grouch which had made him dissatisfied, he quite forgot that he wanted to Resign his Position.

GIVES RICH REALM FOR CHICAGO GIRL

Mrs. Frutos Plaza.

When Miss Pauline Dole, a Chicago girl, became Mrs. Frutos Plaza a few days ago, there was something like a domestic revolution in far-away Ecuador. For young Frutos Plaza's uncle, Leonidas Plaza, the present president of Ecuador, had picked out a beautiful Spanish girl for Frutos. The uncle had promised to lavish favors and wealth, political jobs and other good things upon the youth if he would marry the Spanish belle. Like the hero in the book, he wouldn't do it.

Mr. and Mrs. Frutos Plaza are now on their honeymoon.

The KITCHEN CABINET

LIFE, I repeat, is energy of Divine or human; exercised in pain, in strife and tribulation; and ordained, if so approved and sanctified, to pass through shades and silent rest, to ordain joy.

RICE DISHES.

Rice is a cheap and wholesome food, and in combination with other foods makes a most nutritious dish. Cream is the ideal combination with rice, as it supplies the fat to balance the starch, and with the addition of sugar we have a well balanced meal.

Imperial Rice Pudding.—Soak a third of a box of gelatine a half hour in a half cup of water. Put a pint and a half of milk in a double boiler; when boiling, stir in a half cup of rice, a half teaspoonful of salt, and cook until the rice is perfectly tender. Then add half a cup of sugar. Remove from the stove, and when cool add a teaspoonful of vanilla and the gelatine; when cold add a pint of whipped cream, and put into a mold to harden. Serve very cold.

Rice Flour Cream.—Soak a half box of gelatine in a pint of cold water for a half hour. Put a quart of milk in a double boiler; when boiling hot add a tablespoonful of rice flour blended with cold milk, and four tablespoonfuls of sugar. Stir and cook until the starch is well cooked, remove from the heat, add the gelatine and fold in the whites of two eggs beaten stiff; flavor with vanilla and set away in a mold to harden. Serve with whipped cream and sugar.

Baked Rice Custard.—Cook a cupful of rice. Beat four eggs with a cupful of sugar, add a little salt and a quart of milk. Mix all together with the boiled rice, flavor with cinnamon or nutmeg, and a few raisins may be added if liked; dot the top with bits of butter and bake in a well buttered pan set in hot water. Bake until tested with a knife it comes out clean. Any custard or souffle should be baked in a hot water bath, as it is a saving of the food, nothing sticks to the well buttered dish.

Cynical View.

"Did you see where a great show was given of the wedding of monkeys at a zoo?"

"That's nothing. You see it done every day at other places."

Too Much for the Englishman.

A professor from Iowa went to England last summer and was introduced to a professor from one of the English universities. He welcomed the American and said: "I met one of your colleagues last summer. We had another professor from Ohio here to visit us." "But I am from Iowa." "Iowa, indeed! How very interesting. I am sure the other gentleman called it Ohio."—Lippincott's.

CHATS WITH THINKING WOMEN

by Barbara Boyd

Planning Efficient Housekeeping

HAT'S the fourth time I've moved that dustpan," said the woman who was studying efficiency in housekeeping. "I wonder how many more times I am liable to move it, before I finish my sweeping."

She laid the offending object on a table.

"According to the rules of the game," she said to herself, "I shouldn't have moved it at all; or at any rate, not more than once; when I should have put it where it could have stayed until I needed it."

Later on, as she was washing dishes, she thought, "I guess I handle this piece of soap fifty times in the course of a dish-washing. When by all counts, I should only do it a few times and maybe only once. And that doesn't mean I am to leave it in the dish water either," she said reprovingly to herself.

She watches herself wash dishes for a few minutes. "Every dish," she thought, "I transfer from my left hand to my right hand in order to put it on the drain board. Such a proceeding would give me zero in an efficiency class. I am afraid I am not making much progress in efficient housekeeping. If I studied in the same way every other thing I did, I would probably find that in preparing my vegetables, I handle them a great many more times than is necessary; that in getting a meal, I take a number of unnecessary steps, and that in many ways, I waste a lot of time and energy."

"I suppose now the proper way to do," she continued to herself mentally, "would be to think over all my work before I begin to do it, and plan just how to do it efficiently; that is, eliminate every unnecessary movement. But I wonder if it wouldn't take more time to do that, than it would to do the work the old way."

"But even if it did," she concluded, "it is better to use your brain than your muscles. I think I'll tackle the dust-pan problem and the soap problem and the dish problem, and try to reduce the number of times I handle each of these things."

Barbara Boyd.

Domestic Science DEPARTMENT

CONDUCTED BY Mrs. Alice Mitchell Kirk

I have made it a habit in all of my housekeeping experience to count the linen and silver in every day use once a week. This is quickly and easily done, almost at a glance in the sideboard, on Saturday morning, or when putting away the linen to see whether one napkin is missing from your favorite pattern, or spoon or fork, and it is also a check on the maid if there is one, who has care of these; it makes her all the more careful.

Then I found there was another important "record," which must be kept and that was a clothes record. On this card a record was kept, for instance, of the number of pieces of our summer clothing. My experience had been heretofore that when I put away my summer clothing for the winter, by spring I had usually forgotten what I had so it was very easy when putting these away to write them on the card, for instance: "The combination suits, good; three heavy night gowns, medium; and where stored, whether in trunk, box or drawers; if boxes, they should be numbered on the outside to correspond with the card; if trunk or drawer, which and where located. In doing this we would know that James only needed two pairs of new stockings or three pairs for Elizabeth, or it may be combinations, dresses, trousers or whatever wearing apparel the family might need. It is wonderful what this means in systematizing for ease in buying. This card slipped into your bag when going shopping will indicate just what is necessary for the replenishing any members of the family wardrobe this spring.

Index for Library, Too.

As we had a library of several hundred books, this was just the system. I had long felt the need of listing my books under their proper heads, such as poetry, history, fiction, etc. Then if books were loaned a note was made on the back of the card bearing the title of the book with name of the borrower and the date. There was one guide for new books, so when I heard of a book I desired to get, but could not purchase at once (which was most always the case), I made a note of it on the back of its respective guide card, as we all know how easy it is to forget the title of a book or even when someone gives it to us, we write it on a scrap of paper and it is usually lost.

I have another for "Personal Business," which includes my life and fire insurance, accident policies, charities, etc.

Within the last two years it seemed wise to give up much of my housekeeping, so that meant storage of many things, and an accurate record of the same on cards as to where they were, in what condition, whether in trunk or box and the labels or numbers to correspond with the card.

I also find in my smaller method of housekeeping, even more than when I had greater room in which to spread out, that I must know exactly where things are, and only have just the amount needed, so as not to take up any unnecessary space.

All this has become very easy and simple, having been brought about first through the great need and then following it in a simple, sensible, practical, business-like method.

This card indexing makes for greater freedom, ease and efficiency in the big business of housekeeping.

understanding will bring you safely through your dangers and make your year successful.

Those born today will be favorites in society and inclined to take the popularity too seriously. While not curtailing their pleasure, the unreality of this sort of life should be demonstrated to them, lest they waste their lives in it.

Rather Flimsy Excuse.

The case of "any excuse" was exemplified recently at Capetown (S. Africa) criminal court. A native, when asked by the magistrate why he had signed his evidence "Tom Harris," his real name being April Phalande, replied that he did so because the pen was a bad one and his hand was shaking.

Worth It.

"Prisoner at the bar," said the judge, "is there anything you wish to say before sentence is passed upon you?" "No, my lord, there is nothing I care to say; but if you'll clear away the tables and chairs for me to thrash my lawyer, you can give me a year or two extra."—Tit-Bits.

Some loss is predicted for you and some anxiety concerning money. Take no risks with strangers, and be careful of your health. Watchfulness and

While in New York this winter, a friend from Boston who frequently went shopping with me said: "I never saw anyone in my life who bought things as quickly as you do." "But," I said, "I knew just what was wanted, and all about it before leaving home, and why should I spend any time and the clerk's time talking about it?"

I remember in my earlier housekeeping, when my daughter would think she needed a new dress or waist in the spring, we would take out all she had of that particular article and look them over carefully, and perhaps a little fixing or a little change in the times out of ten the new garment was not necessary at that time.

Afternoon Gown OF Dainty Design

This afternoon gown, designed by Roizot of Paris, is made of mustard colored printed chiffon. The sleeves and collar are of royal blue satin.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—I am a bashful man twenty years old and have the bad habit of putting my fingers into my mouth or my hands to my face when I feel embarrassed. Can you tell me how I may overcome this bad habit?

(2)—Should a gentleman stand at the right or left side of a lady when he assists her into a carriage? (3)—Should I take of anything passed me at the table whether I care for it or not, when out to tea? (4)—Is it wicked to play cards on Sunday?

BASHFUL BOY.

(1)—Put bitter aloes or alum on your finger-tips. The taste will remind you to keep your fingers out of your mouth. If you absolutely resolve to keep your hands out of your face, you can do it. It depends upon your will power. Try, try again until you succeed. (2)—He stands at her left to assist her with her right arm. (3)—Not necessarily, but don't give the impression that you are "choosy." (4)—It depends upon the kind of game and the company you are in. Just a friendly home game can hardly be considered wicked.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—How can I get acquainted with some nice boys. I haven't been to a show or party with a boy since I have been old enough to remember. I am lonely some for a few friends. (2)—How is a girl going to know a good boy from a bad one? (3)—I have lived here twelve years and yet I seem a stranger in this town. How can I get acquainted? I would like to correspond with people, how can I get addresses? (5)—I am, seventeen. Don't you think I am old enough to go some place at least once a week. (6)—I take my lunch to school. What can I do at noon? (7)—If I go for a walk the boys along the street wave at me and speak to me, what am I to do? I can't stay indoors all the time. Do I do right in not noticing them? (8)—What can I do with my hair? It is brown behind and along the front portion of my head my hair is yellow. Is it a bad thing to dye your hair?

(9)—What would you think of a boy who did not notice you when your chum went with you to visit his sister, but as soon as your girl friend left went very "fishing" and would ask you to go to church or to the play? Would you go, I wouldn't. Did I do wrong when I told him I would not go?

LONESOME LOTTIE.

(1)—Haven't any of your girl friends got brothers? Invite the girls to visit you and they will invite you in return and in that way you can meet their brothers. Isn't there a young people's society in your church? You ought to meet some nice people there. If you are pleasant, and can make yourself interesting to others, you should make plenty of friends. (2)—By his respectful treatment of her and all other and by the consideration he shows his own family. (3)—See answer to No. 1. (4)—It is always dangerous for a young girl to correspond with people she does not know very well. Do not attempt to correspond with anybody without getting advice of your parents.

(5)—Yes, if it is the right kind of amusement. (6)—Read, dance, talk with the girls or take walks with your friends. (7)—They will leave you alone if you don't notice them. (8)—Keep it well brushed and give it an egg shampoo once a month. Don't dye it. The results are never good. (9)—If he is a nice boy, why not go with him? If he isn't a respectable boy, you did right to turn him down.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Onions.

Here is a "little advance to the lady friends who raise their own onions this year."

Set your onions out (that is "sets") as soon as the weather will permit. After they are all an inch high, hoe them whether there are any weeds or not. In a week hoe again and do so every week until the tops are as high as they will get, then hoe for last time.

Take dry chicken droppings, scatter liberally over onion bed. Do not hoe any more or pull weeds, for fear you disturb the roots. The results will be onions larger than your fist.

The Table.

Dandelion Dish.—This is our favorite way to prepare dandelions. Wash and cut fine. Cut an onion lengthwise, fine, so it is in slim long strips. Have two hard boiled eggs, one heaping tablespoon drippings in skillet, teaspoon salt, half cup vinegar. When hot, stir in dandelions and onions until they are wilted to suit. These are grand with fried ham and mashed potatoes.

Meat Pie.—This is a very good way to use up left over meats and gravies. Pare and cut in small dice some potatoes. Cut fine one onion. Cut meat in small dice—it does not need to be only of one kind; any left over meats will do. Put all together with enough water just to cover, and season with salt and pepper. Let boil about one-half hour, keeping just enough water to cover. Line deep dish or pan with pie crust (sides only). Have some pie crust cut in small squares. Put the above in and your gravy and small squares of pie crust. Put on a cover of pie crust (just like any pie), put in oven to bake. I have made this my Monday night supper for a number of years.

Egg Baskets.—Boil hard the number of eggs desired. Cut off the large end and extract the yolks. Cut slightly at the other end so it will stand. Chop the yolks and bits of white with any left over in way of meat, fowl or fish, moistening with a little gravy or thickened milk. Season well. Fill the eggs. Pour over this the remaining meat or gravy. Set in oven to heat.

Ginger Cake.—Put generous tablespoon of flour in a cup and fill with boiling water, add three-fourths cup of molasses. Sift together about two cups flour, pinch of salt, teaspoon each of soda, ginger, and cinnamon; add this to other ingredients, beat hard and bake in shallow pan.

This cake can be served with or without frosting, or served for dessert with whipped cream. It can be iced with confectioners' sugar and served cold.

To make the icing, stir confectioners' sugar into water or any fruit acly where things are, and only have just the amount needed, so as not to take up any unnecessary space.

All this has become very easy and simple, having been brought about first through the great need and then following it in a simple, sensible, practical, business-like method.

While in New York this winter, a friend from Boston who frequently went shopping with me said: "I never saw anyone in my life who bought things as quickly as you do." "But," I said, "I knew just what was wanted, and all about it before leaving home, and why should I spend any time and the clerk's time talking about it?"

I remember in my earlier housekeeping, when my daughter would think she needed a new dress or waist in the spring, we would take out all she had of that particular article and look them over carefully, and perhaps a little fixing or a little change in the times out of ten the new garment was not necessary at that time.

As we had a library of several hundred books, this was just the system. I had long felt the need of listing my books under their proper heads, such as poetry, history, fiction, etc. Then if books were loaned a note was made on the back of the card bearing the title of the book with name of the borrower and the date. There was one guide for new books, so when I heard of a book I desired to get, but could not purchase at once (which was most always the case), I made a note of it on the back of its respective guide card, as we all know how easy it is to forget the title of a book or even when someone gives it to us, we write it on a scrap of paper and it is usually lost.

Within the last two years it seemed wise to give up much of my housekeeping, so that meant storage of many things, and an accurate record of the same on cards as to where they were, in what condition, whether in trunk or box and the labels or numbers to correspond with the card.

I also find in my smaller method of housekeeping, even more than when I had greater room in which to spread out, that I must know exactly where things are, and only have just the amount needed, so as not to take up any unnecessary space.

COLLECTION OF RARE CARVINGS IN IVORY OWNED BY LOCAL MAN

George S. Parker has Unique Hobby—Quaint Figures Made by Artists of the Orient.

Collecting carvings in ivory is the unique hobby of George S. Parker, President of the Parker Pen Company, who now is the owner of nearly one hundred specimens of this unfamiliar art, without a doubt, the finest collection of its kind in this part of the country. Most of the carvings are the work of Japanese artists, although a few of them were made by Chinese and Hindoo craftsmen.

The acquiring of the collection represents several years of careful investigation and selection. Mr. James Crowther, an Englishman resident in the Orient, and a collector of great zeal and fine discrimination, acts as the purchasing agent of Mr. Parker, buying and forwarding to him the best specimens that come to his notice.

One of the last specimens to be added to the collection is the figure representing Horibe Yabei, a Japanese historical character, and a half-ton picture of the image is printed with this article, the figure, in question is said to be a piece of carving that is exceedingly well done and by an artist of considerable note. Horibe Yabei was the oldest of the forty-seven Ronins, or wave men, a band of outlaws or freebooters, and their doings have found expression in a great many pieces of Japanese ivory carvings. The figure is of the form used by the watchmen in old Japan. When hanging down the oil vessel, rotates on the spindle or shaft, and the light is kept entirely to the ground, but when raised as in this figure, it illuminates in advance.

HORIBE YABEI.

The sword shown in the picture were the badge of the Samurai or soldier class. The long sword is used in fighting, while the short sword is reserved for committing harikari in case of disgrace or defeat as evidence of devotion to the cause and to the house.

The Japanese ivory carvings rank highest in workmanship, the Chinese

LAXATIVE FOR OLD PEOPLE—"CASCARETS"

What Glasses are to Weak Eyes, Cascarets are to Weak Bowels—a 10-Cent Box Will Truly Amaze You.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Bowels may occasionally whip the youth into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

and Hindoo work ranking in order. A large number of the images represent historical personages others legendary and religious characters, domestic life, and the arts and crafts. Japanese artists love to depict the fisherman, and the Chinese show a preference for the farmer.

"Netsukes," tiny images carved out of one piece, and designed to be worn as ornaments suspended from the girdle or tobacco pouch, comprise a considerable part of the collection of Mr. Parker. They can always be identified by the tiny holes on the under side for strings to be passed through, and sometimes they are shipped with the strings inserted. The carving on them is exquisite in its workmanship, and the designs are usually very grotesque. They are very valuable things for the collectors, as the designs are so made as to represent all the old history and characters of Japanese folk lore. The last specimens represent "Kumotara" a sort of Jack the Giant Killer, a pair of wrestling children with the empire's fan laid on the ground; two famous gods of Japan, Daikoku and Yebai, two work people carving a giant mask for a temple, making "mochi" or New Year's dumplings, and the Japanese God, Hotei.

Elephants are also a favorite subject of the Japanese ivory carver, as they are considered a tamsman, bringing good luck. They are also correspondingly higher priced than other pieces. Mr. Parker has a number of specimens of this kind, one of the best showing four or five elephants on an arch bridge.

Included in the last shipment of carvings was one of the choicest specimens that Mr. Parker has acquired. It shows the home of a peasant with a tree overshadowing it, the branches of which are represented in wonderful detail. The interior of the house is carved out and inside are to be seen human figures. In front of the house appears a man dumping grain into the hopper of a mill.

The most conspicuous figure in the collection, though not the most highly prized, is an image of Buddha, mounted on a throne, with the tiny figures of worshippers kneeling on the steps before it. Other the specimens are "Rice Blower" and "The Eggs Merchant." The former holds a pair of rice in his hands from which he is blowing the chaff and the expression on his face is wonderfully lifelike. The egg merchant is shown with a tube in one hand and an egg in the other, this representing the method of candling. Beside him is a basket of eggs.

Conscientious fidelity to detail is one of the marked traits of the first class artist in ivory. It is manifest even in those parts of the figures not usually seen. This is illustrated in an image of a Japanese maid sitting upon the floor in the characteristic attitude of the race, and playing a stringed instrument. On its under side, which one might expect to be untouched by the carver, can be seen the feet and toes of the girl, and the folds of her garment.

The time worn phrase, "art is long," is no better exemplified than in ivory carving, a process of great interest. It is almost a hereditary occupation, the system of training, being long and arduous, tending to limit the acquisition of the art in the families. Even with the advantage of hereditary instinct, application, and natural gifts, a period of from twenty to twenty-five years of careful training is required before a workman can be trusted and is considered proficient in all branches of the art. The apprentice is paid nothing until he is sufficiently skilled to turn out a salable article, and this he is able to do generally after having served from five to seven years.

There are several distinct steps in the work of carving, the first of which is the making of a rough sketch on the outside of the piece of tusk which is to be carved. Next comes the process of cutting away superfluous material with a web saw, followed by further cutting with a specially designed file which leaves the figure with a definite rude outline like a clay model, but with no features to the head, nothing but the line of the pose. Then is used the graver, a chisel made in a variety of shapes and of finely tempered steel. With this are formed the cavities for the eyes, the ears, nose and the contour of the neck and the folds of the drapery. When the graver has finished its work the figure is perfect in outline but without expression. Then comes the highest art of the worker. With his scraper, a many sized tool like a set of dental instruments, are formed the lines around the mouth, the ear is turned to catch the sound, the pupils of the eyes dilate, and every line glowing with life. But the end is not yet. Now comes the final process of polishing, which turns the rough surface to the downy texture of human skin. No tools are used, only grades of pumice stone varying from that coarse as sand to that impalpable as powder, are applied with a curious circulatory motion on felt and leather pads. This leaves a polish which few substances attain, and is the crowning touch of a highly developed and beautiful art.

PIMPLES ALMOST COVERED FACE

Blackheads Also. Suffered Greatly. Red and Irritated. Unsightly. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and Face Was Cleared.

Atchison, Kan. — "For a number of years I suffered very greatly from skin eruptions. My face was very red and irritated, being almost covered with pimples and blackheads. The pimples were scattered over my face. They were a fine rash with the exception of a few large pimples on my forehead and chin. My face burned and looked red if exposed to either heat or cold. It was not only unsightly but very uncomfortable. I tried several remedies but couldn't get any relief. I was recommended to use Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I applied the Cuticura Ointment in the evening, leaving it for about five minutes, then washing it off with Cuticura Soap and hot water. I washed several times during the day. After about four months of this application, my face was cleared of the pimples. I still use the Cuticura Soap. I will be glad to recommend the Cuticura Remedies to anyone suffering from skin diseases." (Signed) Miss Elsie Nielson, Dec. 29, 1911.

Gazette Classified Page Reaches the Masses

It's the intense circulation of the Gazette that makes the want ads such a popular and profitable medium. It's the fact that this paper goes into such a great percentage of the homes both of Janesville and of the county that brings hundreds of these ads each day.

The circulation is what makes the results possible. No matter what your want may be if it is told in this page it goes into 6,000 homes daily.

Picture if you can a trip that took you over every road and through every street in every city, except Beloit, within the borders of this county, and then remember that each day the Gazette goes into seven out of every ten of these homes.

Do you wonder longer why a Classified ad often brings 50 and more inquiries. What this page is doing for others it will do for you.

THE PURCHASE PRICE; OR, THE CAUSE OF COMPROMISE

"Viewed from the standpoint of our diplomacy, the matter here is simple," said the tall, dark man. "Last week at the reception where the representatives of Austria were present this woman appeared, properly introduced, properly invited. It is true, but wholly unwelcome; socially, in certain quarters. The attaché and his wife left the room and made plain to their host their reasons for doing so."

"Yes, and it was public shame that they should take such action. The woman had the right of her host's protection, for she was there by invitation." Thus the bony man in the shadows.

"But we have just heard what rights we have before the law, sir," ventured a hesitating, drawing voice which had earlier been heard. "How can we take cognizance of private insult given by a foreign power in only quasi-public capacity? I conceive it to be somewhat difficult, no matter what the reception in the society of Washington, to eject this woman from the city of Washington itself or at least very likely difficult to keep her ejected, as you say, sir."

"Where should she go?" demanded yet another voice. "And why should she not come back?"

"Impatiently the leader replied: 'Where? I do not know. I do not want to know. I must not know. Must we not bear ourselves in mind?' Then, sir, in case of her sudden return you ask an agent?" said a keen, clear and incisive voice which had not yet been heard. "Gentlemen, shall we cast lots for the honor of watching the Countess St. Auban in case of her undesired return?"

"The grim demand brought out a hasty protest from a timid soul. 'To that I would not agree.'"

"Very well, then," went on the clear voice. "If we may not again kidnap the lady why may we not bribe her?"

"It could not be done," broke in the dark man toward the head of the table. "If I know the facts, this woman could not be bought for any ransom. She has both station and wealth and is a French girl, so the story goes, for some service of her family in the affairs of France. But she will none of monarchies. She turned demagogue, revolutionist, in France and on the hotter stage of Hungary, and so finally sought this new world to conquer."

"Let us go softly," came the rejoinder from the shadows. "We need some man who is a nice judge of psychological moments and nicely suited methods. We stand, all of us, for the compromise of 1850. That compromise is not yet complete. The question of this unwelcome lady still remains to be adjusted. Were Mr. Clay not quite so old, I might suggest his name for this last and most crucial endeavor of a long and troublous life!"

"Let us be sure, gentlemen, of one thing at a time," resumed the man who presided. "As we come to this final measure suggested by our friend from Kentucky, I am at a loss how further to proceed. What we do cannot be made public. We cannot sign a joint note asking this distinguished gentleman to act as our intermediary."

"I suggest, sir, that we should evade the personal responsibility of this did you put it to the vote of the states represented here," said the dark man. "I rely upon the loyalty and the unanimity of my family," replied the leader, with more firmness than was his wont. "Gentlemen, are we then agreed? Does Massachusetts consent? Is Virginia with us? Is New York agreeable? Does Kentucky also agree?"

There was no murmur of dissent, and the leader, half rising, concluded: "Gentlemen, we agreed four days ago that the Countess St. Auban should leave Washington not later than that night. We are now agreed that in case of her return, she shall if possible be placed under the charge, not of any responsible figure of our party, but of a gentleman distinguished in the councils of an opposing party, whose abolitionist beliefs coincide somewhat with her own. Let us hope they will both get them to Missouri, the debating ground, the center of the political battle today. But, Missouri or Hungary, Kentucky or France, let us hope that one or both of them shall pass from our horizon."

"If we agree upon New York as our agent, who shall be our emissary to New York? Do you allow the chair?" he smiled as he bowed before them—to appoint this committee of one?"

"There was silence to this. A moment's hesitation, and the speaker announced his decision: 'The gentleman from Kentucky is appointed to execute this task for the people of the United States. Let us hope he never will have need to serve.'"

It cost the self-control of some to remain silent at this, and the courage of the remaining member also to preserve the silence which meant his acceptance of a task so difficult and distasteful.

"Sir," hastily went on the original speaker, "our thanks are due to you. We shall limit you with no instructions. All the money required by you as agent, or required by your agent, shall of course be forthcoming, and you shall quietly have also the assistance of all the secret service, if so desired. None of us must know what has become of the Countess St. Auban, now or later. You have heard me. Gentlemen, we adjourn."

Tallwoods, the home plantation of the Dunwoody family in the west, now the personal property of the surviving son, State Senator Warville Dunwoody of Missouri, presented one of the contrasts which now and again might have been seen in our early western civilization. It lay somewhat remote from the nearest city of consequence, in a region where the wide acres of the owner, bleached, unused and uncultivated, with those still more wild, as yet unclaimed under any private title. Yet in pretentiousness—indeed, in assuredness—it might have rivalled many of the old estates of Kentucky, the Carolinas or Virginia, so much did the customs and ambitions of these older states follow their better bred sons out into the newer regions. It was a day's ride to a farmhouse, two days to a steamer, five hours to get a letter to or from the occasional post.

The plantation itself was a little kingdom and largely supplied its own wants. Mills, looms, shops—all these were part of the careless system, easy and opulent, which found support and gained arrogance from a rich and generous environment. The old house itself, if it might be called old, built as it had been some thirty years before, lay in the center of a singular valley at the edge of the Ozark hills. The site was chosen for its healthfulness and natural beauty. The road, up through the lower Ozarks from the great Mississippi, which entered along the bed of the little stream, ended at Tallwoods farm. Beyond it, along the little river which led back into the remote hills, it was no more than a horse path and used rarely except by negroes or whites in hunting expeditions back into the mountains, where the deer, the wild turkey, the bear and the panther still roamed in considerable numbers at no great distance from the home plantation.

Corn, wheat and cotton—these made the wealth of the owner of Tallwoods' plantation and of the richer lands in the river bottoms below. These products brought the owner all the wealth he needed. Here, like a feudal lord, master of all about him, he had lived all his life and had, as do all created beings, taken on the color and the savor of the environment about him. Rich, he was generous; strong, he was merciful; independent, he was arrogant; used to his own way, he was fierce and cruel when crossed in that way.

If in Tallwoods the owner might do as he liked, certainly he had elected first of all to live somewhat as a gentleman. The mansion house was modeled after the somewhat stereotyped pattern of the great country places of the south. Originally planned to consist of the one large central edifice of brick, with a wing on each side of somewhat lesser height, it had never been entirely completed, one wing only having been fully erected. The main portion of the house was of two stories, its immediate front occupied by the inevitable facade with its four white pillars, which rose from the level of the ground to the edge of the roof, shading the front entrance to the middle rooms. Under this tall gallery roof, whose front showed high, white and striking all across the valley, lay four windows, and at each side of the great double doors lay yet another two windows. On either side of the pillars and in each story yet other two admitted light to the great rooms; and in the completed wing which lay at one side of the main building, deep embrasures came down almost to the level of the ground, well hidden by the grouped, shrubbery which grew close to the walls. The visitor approaching upon the straight gravel walk might not have noticed the heavy iron bars which covered these, giving the place something the look of a jail on a forested hill.

Tradition had it that the reason the building had never been completed was that the old master would have been obliged to cut down a favorite elm in order to make room for it, and he had declared that since his wife had died and all his children but one had followed her, the house was large enough as it was.

Strait through the middle of the house ran a wide hall. To the left, beyond the existing wing, lay the fenced vegetable gardens, where grew rankly all manner of provender. Intended for the bounteous table, whose host it was that, save for sugar and coffee, nothing was used at Tallwoods which was not grown upon its grounds. It might have been called matter of course that Warville Dunwoody should be chosen to the state legislature. So chosen, he had through sheer force of his commanding nature easily become a leader among men not without strength and individuality, a self-contained man who never lacked money, who never lacked wit, whose hand was heavy, whose tongue was keen, whose mind was strong and whose purse was ever open.

The state which had produced a Benton was now building up a rival to Benton. That giant, then rounding out a history of thirty years' continuous service in the senate of the United States, unlike the men of this western day, reserved the right to his own honest and personal political belief. He steadily refused to countenance the extending of slavery, although himself a holder of slaves; and, although he admitted the legality and constitutionality of the fugitive slave act, he declared that act as much as any.

Perhaps thirty or forty slaves were employed about Tallwoods home farm, as it was called. Idle and shiftless, relying on the frequent absence of the master and the ease of gaining a living, they worked no more than was necessary to keep up a semblance of routine.

But now another and most important matter for our note—there was no woman's hand at Tallwoods. The care was that of servants, of slaves. When things grew insupportable in their shiftlessness the master lashed out an order and got what he demanded, then soon matters sank back again to their old state.

CHAPTER VI. Free and Thrill.

It was to the remote and somewhat singular surroundings of Tallwoods, Dunwoody's house in Missouri, that there approached on the evening of a bland autumn day along the winding road which followed the little stream the great coach of the master of Tallwoods, drawn by four blooded carriage horses, weary, mud stained and flecked with foam. Dunwoody himself sprang down from the driver's seat where he had been riding in order to give the occupants of the coach the more room. He approached the window, but in hand.

"My dear lady," said he, "this is the end of our journey. Welcome to my home. Will you not look at it?"

greeted him, the face of a woman weary and even now in tears. Hastily she sought to conceal these evidences of her distress. It was the first time he had seen her weeping. Hitherto her courage had kept her cold and defiant, else hot and full of reproaches. This spectacle gave him concern. His face took on a troubled frown.

"Come, now, do not weep, my dear girl—anything but that."

"What, then, is it you would say?" she demanded. "It makes little difference to me where you are taking me."

He threw open the coach door and extended a hand to aid her in alighting. "Suppose we walk up from here," he said. "I know you are tired by the ride. Besides," he added, with pride, "I want to show you Tallwoods."

Scarcely touching his hand, she stepped down. Dunwoody motioned to the driver to advance, and in spite of the protests of the maid Jeanne, thus left alone within the coach rolled on up the driveway ahead of them.

It was in fact a beautiful prospect which lay before the travelers thus arrived. The sun was low in the west, approaching the rim of the hills, and its level rays lighted the autumn foliage, crossed the great trees and brightened the tall white pillars. The enfolding forests gave a look of protectiveness to this secret place. They left a feeling not of discomfort, but of shelter. To a woman distracted and wearied it should have offered some sort of rest. To her who now gazed upon it the sight afforded only horror.

This then, was the place. Here was to be her trial. This was the battle ground.

"The hills are beautiful, the trees are beautiful and the sky," she said, at length. "What God has done here is beautiful. But God himself is gone."

(To be Continued.)

Why They Fail.

It takes some people so long to be sure they are right that they never get time to go ahead.

THINGS A MOTHER OUGHT TO KNOW

Mothers whose children are weak and run-down, who do not gain flesh and strength, who lack the rosy cheeks and bright eyes of healthy childhood, should remember that the safest tonic and body builder to give them is Father John's Medicine because it is a pure and wholesome medicine free from alcohol or dangerous drugs. Thousands of mothers give it to their children whenever they become weakened or run-down.

If you have any difficulty in securing Father John's Medicine from your druggist, write to Father John's Medicine, Lowell, Mass., enclosing $1.00 for a large bottle by express prepaid.

DOING THEIR DUTY.

Scores of Gazette Readers are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are weak.

Backache and other kidney ills may follow.

Help the kidneys do their work.

Use Doan's Kidney Pills—the tested kidney remedy.

Janesville people endorse their worth.

Frank C. Samuel, grocer, 983 McKee Blvd., Janesville, Wis., says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are a good kidney medicine, having used them with the best results. My kidneys did not do their work as they should and caused my back to ache. I also had pains across my loins. Two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me, and since then I have had no further trouble from my kidneys."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

DINNER STORIES

Gladstone, when a boy, was visiting in the country and the farmer was showing him around. Coming to a field that contained a large black bull, the farmer said: "There's a fine, strong bull there, Master William, and it's only two years old."

"How do you tell its age?" queried the boy.

"Why, by its horns," said the farmer.

"By its horns?" Young Gladstone looked thoughtful a moment, then his face cleared. "Ah, I see. Two horns—two years."

Two women were coming into the city the other day from a 500 party out in the suburbs. They boarded a crowded street car, and as they walked up the aisle Mrs. Blank suddenly put up her hand and pulled down her veil.

"Why on earth do you do that?" asked her friend.

"Don't whisper a word," she replied. "My nubby is sitting up in the front of the car, and if he doesn't recognize me he may get up and give me his seat."

"I might have married a millionaire," declared Everywoman. "One of my old schoolmates is now one."

"And several right in this town for $10 a week," retorted Everyman, "while one of them is in jail. I guess in marrying a chap getting $1500 a year your average is fairly good."

And then Everybody set up a howl and they had to stop quarreling to attend to him.

Best for Skin Diseases.

Nearly every skin disease yields quickly and permanently to Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and nothing is better for burns or bruises. Soothes and heals. John Devoe, of Gladwin, Mich., says, after suffering twelve years with skin ailment and spending $400 in doctor's bills, "Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him. It will help you. Only 25c. Recommended by People's Drug Store."

A HOME OF CHARACTER—No. 149-A

which has been built for from about $2000.00 up to $2400.00

The large porch extending across the front of this home and the vestibule extending out upon it are at once attractive and impressive of comfort in all sorts of weather.

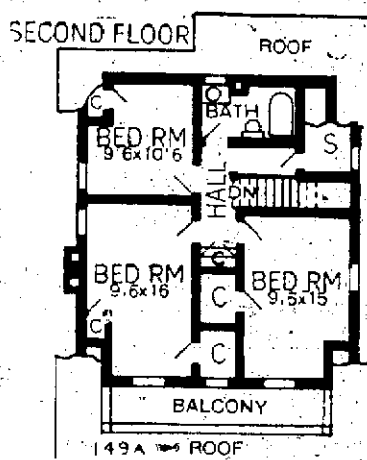

The vestibule opens directly into a spacious living room, the full width of this home and practically half its depth, with a fireplace centering at one end, the chimney being built outside the house.

Women readers of the Gazette will appreciate the convenience of the combination stairway from both the living room and the kitchen, while the alcove at one end of the dining room which is large enough to accommodate a buffet is another feature worthy of note. Casement windows are provided above buffet height.

A handy ice room opens off a conveniently arranged kitchen from which one reaches the basement by either an inside or outside stairway.

In each of the three bedrooms on the second floor is unusual closet space, and at one end of the hall is a good linen closet, at the other the door of a well-arranged bathroom.

As there is no attic in this home, a large storeroom has been provided between the bathroom and stairway.

A home that has proven a joy to those who have built it.
